Craft Australia is delighted to announce the publication of Interact: Contemporary craft in a digital future

In 2004 Interact was launched as a live discussion forum on the Craft Australia website, presenting a series of topical articles on aspects of contemporary craft practice in Australia.

The articles and associated discussions are online at <http://basement.craftaustralia.org.au/nationalForum/2004>.

They have now been complemented by a hardcopy publication that presents Craft Australia's introduction to Interact, the original articles and key discussion points from the forums. This free publication will form an essential resource for educators, craftspeople, institutions and anyone interested in contemporary craft practice.
